Topic – Science/History

During WW2, people used to put 'blackouts' up in their windows so that any lights inside houses could not be seen from enemy planes. Could you do some research about blackouts and what material was used? It would also be good if you tested some materials that you had at home to see what would be the most effective material for a blackout.

Numeracy

Rounding worksheet. A fun escape room activity to practise the rounding skills that we learnt last week.
